Year-end Parties

BEWARE

Dear Parent

The school year is coming to an end and during this period learners plan and prepare to close the year with a party bash.

Your son/daughter could be:

- at a party bash - exposed to a host of Haraam and illicit entertainment - alcohol, drugs, sexual activities, etc.
- at a rave club or nite club - enjoying the Haraam thunder of loud music and dancing to the tune of Shaytani singers.
- at a friend's house - enjoying a braai with friends. An occasion when cocaine and hard drugs are introduced only to become an addict later on.
- drag racing and speeding on the roads at breakneck speeds with a group of wild friends - the possible risk of an accident may claim lives or leave permanent injuries.
- a victim of rape since these parties are synonymous with free sexual activities, it has happened to so many already.
- long hours before the computer playing games and watching movies - least to mention of pornograph material easily available at the press of a button.

Know where your child is going, what he/she is doing.
Be aware. Be alert and vigilant.

Remember your child is an Amanah – protect this Amanah!
